student in question, or other students, the College will inform the applicant as soon as the situation becomes apparent.

- The College requires applicants to declare criminal convictions on application and also on enrolment. This information is used to assess applicants' suitability to attend the College campuses and use its resources. Declaring a criminal conviction does not automatically preclude an offer being made, or prevent an applicant being enrolled at the College; however applicants may be referred to Admissions Panel in certain instances in the event that there are any safeguarding or other concerns about an applicant's application.

3.4. Right to refuse admission

The College may in its absolute discretion refuse an application to study on the chosen course at the College on the following non-exhaustive grounds:

- If an applicant is unable to demonstrate the minimum entry requirements for the course or programme applied for but may be referred for a more suitable course;
- If the course or programme applied for is undersubscribed (with the result that its delivery is not viable for the College or its students) or oversubscribed or if the College is, for whatever reason, unable to deliver the course or programme applied for;
- If an applicant has a criminal conviction which prevents him/her from undertaking the course or programme applied for;
- If the College considers, in its reasonable opinion, that the applicant may endanger or pose a risk of harm to employees or students of the College;
- If the applicant has specific physical, medical, social or curriculum needs which the College considers, in its reasonable opinion, that it is unable to meet;
- If an applicant is not deemed Fit to Study, Fit to Practise or has had a Stage 3 or 4 disciplinary through Askham Bryan College processes;
- If an applicant has previously been removed from a programme of study due to Fitness to Practise concerns, or
- If an applicant is under the age of 17 on the 31 August on the year they want to commence their studies.

The above is a non-exhaustive list and there may be other reasons or circumstances for which the College may consider an applicant is unsuitable to study on a particular course or programme or at the College generally. If the College considers that it is unable to admit an applicant to the course or programme applied for (whether for one of the above reasons or otherwise), the College will explore with the applicant whether there is a suitable alternative course or programme and offer appropriate advice and guidance to enable applicants to make alternative choices. Where the student has been refused admission the College will hold an Admissions Panel.
